Meet the New Pastor!

Starting on July 1, the Wayne Community Church will be opening wide its doors to welcome both Reverend Angela Rotherham, and her husband, Dan. She has been the officiating pastor at The Brackett Memorial UMC on Peak's Island for the last seven years. And I couldn't be more excited about the new appointment! (Wait until you meet her!)

Last week, my husband and I visited her 'on site' – and this is what I asked her:

What do you think you'll miss most about island living?

The fact that we are such a close-knit community – I'll miss the Saturday morning cribbage games!

What will you be happiest to leave?

The summer congestion; the masses of people who come off the ferry; the additional cars, bikes, and golf carts!

Could you name one accomplishment (at Brackett Memorial) of which you are most proud?

Yes! The fact that we, as a congregation, worked long and hard (together!) to achieve our status as a 'non-conforming congregation' – which means that we recognize all people, regardless of their gender orientation, as viable candidates for ministry; and also that we honor their marital vows – inside the walls of the sanctuary.

And lastly, since you've been ordained, what do you find most gratifying about being in ministry?

All the opportunities to hear people describe their 'Aha' moments – when they see their everyday experiences through the lens of the Spirit...witnessing the personal epiphanies!

Rev. Angela Rotherham, welcome to Wayne, Maine! What a blessing you will both be to this community!

God love you,

Ruth Merriam, Rev.

INTERESTING WAYNE HISTORY FROM THE WAYNE HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Written by Marsha O'Rourke

Lee Williams was a student at Princeton University and a member of the United Federalists, a precursor to the United Nations, when this picture was taken. Lee Williams and Albert Einstein, who it is believed was a professor at Princeton at the time, were likely discussing the United Federalists organization. Lee Williams, who became a CIA agent for 36 years, was married to Eileen Honor O'Rourke and they once owned the Williams Property house which is now owned by the Cary Memorial Library.

–Written by Stuart Smith.

Lee was born and grew up in Dalton, Massachusetts. He was a descendant of the famous Puritan Jonathan Edwards, author of the Great Awakening and missionary to the Mahicans. He was from the famous clan of Williamses—ministers, missionaries, pioneers and educators who reformed the Congregational Church and founded Williams College. He was also a collateral descendant and namesake of the Eleazer Williams who was captured and carried off to Canada in the Deerfield raid of 1704, and was later believed by some to be the lost dauphin of France. One of Lee's favorite stories concerned registration day at Princeton. On seeing his name, the man handling his papers cried, "Ah Vous e tres le dauphin perdu!" It made Lee's day if not his whole four years.

Lee was decorated for heroism during the Battle of the Bulge. He was an infantry scout at age 20, and was wounded so badly he spent 5 months in the hospital recovering.

He eventually went on to marry Eileen Honor O'Rourke of Brooklyn, New York and Wayne, Maine.

There was a stint at Harvard Law School and he eventually retired from, after a long and distinguished career as a foreign service officer specializing in matters of intelligence.

Lee was a senior officer in the Central Intelligence Agency in its greatest days. After a time in Vietnam he was involved in the Paris Peace talks where he lived in a houseboat on the Seine under the Eiffel tower. My sister Maggie often functioned as his hostess for gatherings he had there (grand piano and all), when my Aunt Honor was here in Wayne with their son in summers.

Lee was the best person to sit beside at a gathering; always humorous, a phenomenal baritone, and an athlete. He was a great linguist when he admitted to understanding the language. Family stories go on and on.

Tuesday, June 11, 6:30: Frozen River Journey: Ski Touring the Hidden Kingdom of Zanskar Presented by Mountain Guide Whitney Thurlow.

Whitney Thurlow, mountain guide, returns to Wayne for another chapter in his world-wide travels. This time, travel to the Zanskar Kingdom of India. "Cloistered within dramatic mountains of the Great Himalayan range – averaging an altitude of 3,600m and sprinkled with peaks as high as 7,000m – India's Zanskar valley has stayed isolated for centuries. The Ladakh region, of which Zanskar is part of, even has the following saying: "The land is so barren and the passes so high that only our fiercest enemies or our best friends would want to visit us."

Cut off from the rest of the world due to geographical constraints and a distinct lack of outside influences, Zanskar has remained as one of the last bastions of ancient Tibetan Buddhist culture." (from BBC Travel). The program will include pictures and video of his month-long trip. Stafford Room, Tuesday, June 11, 6:30 pm. All are cordially invited.

Summer Intern: Welcome to Katie King, this year's Summer Intern. Katie will be graduating from Maranacook in June and we look forward to having her for our busy summer season.

And thank you to the Friends of the Library who fund the Intern's salary and allow us to support extra summer hours.

ALICE PROJECT

As part of the exciting project to recreate the Alice's Adventures in Wonderland Room at the Williams House carriage barn, Jann Haynes Gilmore, a member of the Mad Hatters Committee, spent the winter researching and writing a 65-page book on the Alice phenomenon in cultural history. Of keen interest is the detailed account of how the Alice Room and its artist, Alfred T. Merian, came to Wayne, Maine. The limited-edition book will be available for purchase at $18.00 beginning in early June at the Cary Library and the Williams House with all proceeds going to the Alice project. Jann is a well-known Wayne summer resident and her scores of paintings of Wayne homes and sites grace the walls of many local families.

Further Alice Project developments:

- 1) Alice has returned to Wayne! The restoration and conservation have been completed on the large panel depicting Alice; work continues on the remaining 16 art panels.
- 2) Alice will appear at the June 9 “Welcome Back Alice and Happy 100th Birthday Grace (Burleigh)” reception at the Williams House, 4-6 pm. Please plan to join this celebration.
- 3) Construction tasks happening at the carriage barn.

LOCAL EVENTS & ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Wayne Farmers' Market is opening for the year on May 25, our 11th season! The Market has become an institution in town, bringing us together to support local farmers and producers while meeting up with friends and neighbors for good conversation. On Saturday mornings, from Memorial Day weekend (May 25) through Labor Day weekend, we can enjoy fresh, healthy and delicious foods, as well as plants, flowers, body care products and local crafts. There will be some new vendors and products this year - we are anticipating a wide array of vegetables, herbs, meat, poultry, eggs, dairy products, maple products, baked goods, pies, pepper jellies, plants, flowers, soaps, natural skin care products, pottery and more.

Sam Saunders will again be conducting cooking demonstrations, using products from the market vendors. Tasty free samples will be available, as we learn interesting ways to prepare food creatively.

Music will enhance the market most weeks. Come and hear spontaneous songs about what's for sale! Kids are invited to dance and sing along. (Adults, too.)

The market runs from 9am until noon, on the green next to the post office on rte. #133, overlooking the mill pond.

AGING AT HOME NEWS JUNE 2019

Tai Chi is NOT stopped after all. The Tai Chi fans have voted to continue to meet every Friday this summer. We will meet at the Fellowship Hall of the Wayne Community Church starting June 7, from 11 AM to 12 Noon. Come and join us or just observe. No cost.

Meal deliveries from the Winthrop soup kitchen will be reduced to 2 X a week for the summer (Starting May 30). Just Monday and Thursday deliveries after that until September. If you know someone who could use the meals; someone with limited resources, or someone who is recovering from illness or injury, let us know.

Aging At Home is excited that our "Age Friendly" plan for the next three years has been approved by AARP. If you would like to be "in" on the plans to help keep elders at home as they age, contact us. We'd be happy to share the plan with you.

Know someone who loves to read but can't get out to the library? You can have books delivered to your home. Just call Janet at the library, or call us at AAH.

A support group for caregivers meets the second Tuesday of every month at noon at the Cohen Community Center, 22 Town Farm Road, in Hallowell. Phone: 626-7777. It is run by a social worker and is very helpful for getting through the stress of being a caregiver.

It's hard to imagine this in mid-May with rain and cold so prevalent, but hot weather will soon be here, and with it comes the chance of overheating and dehydration. Remember to drink plenty of liquids and to protect yourself from the sun. Stay hydrated and stay healthy.
